

Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management Program

REVIEW AND FUTURE VISION

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The health of Wyoming’s economy is at a critical juncture. Until the 2018 launch of a BS in Outdoor Recreation & Tourism Management, UW had not supported the outdoor recreation and tourism industries in decades, the state’s 2nd largest economic sector and largest primary employer. Our program’s success means that we are at capacity but with the potential and obligation as a land-grant university to further support outdoor recreation and tourism in Wyoming through strategic investment.

Our vision is to:

- Educate: Attract, retain, and educate enterprising graduates in the state
- Serve: Expand and diversify Wyoming’s OR&T and Hospitality economy
- Research: Generate new understanding and vital information through applied research

ORTM education program is exceptionally strong with growth in demand and opportunity:

- Exemplary growth in degree that trains students for careers in partnership with the College of Business.
- Collaboration with College of Business on a new minor in Hospitality Management.
- High market demand by students and employers

ORTM service, outreach and research program are growing but call for increased capacity:

- Current strength of industry service is moderate, we have not made adequate progress
- Research efforts are burgeoning but not yet robust
- Demand justifies increasing levels of support to impact the OR&T economy

We have reached capacity and propose strategic investment to facilitate:

- Recruitment of faculty to expand distance education, greatly increase service and outreach and enhance applied research
- Increased direct service industry via an extension-style model with education, support and outreach, and applied research components
- Establishment of a Center for Wyoming Outdoor Recreation, Tourism and Hospitality to significantly increase our impact and achieve overall goals

“Outdoor recreation and tourism management is an industry with a lot of potential growth in the State of Wyoming. The COVID-19 pandemic highlighted the importance of this sector to support the State’s economic well being. I support opportunities to incubate this sector and help it grow to become a fundamental aspect to a diversified State of Wyoming economy for the 21st century.”

—GOVERNOR MARK GORDON, DECEMBER 15, 2020

ECONOMIC NEED AND OUR RESPONSE

The health of the Wyoming economy is at a critical juncture. A pandemic and an overemphasis on a single economic sector have left the State of Wyoming with serious fiscal shortfalls. Until the 2018 approval of the BS in Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management (ORTM) at the Haub School, UW had not directly supported the outdoor recreation and tourism (OR&T) industries for decades. The OR&T industries are the second largest economic sector and the largest primary employer in the state (Appendix 1). During 2019, travel-related spending in Wyoming was $3.95 billion, directly supporting approximately 32,570 jobs, and generating $203 million in state and local taxes according to the Wyoming Office of Tourism. Economic recovery will require the growth and stewardship of the outdoor recreation, tourism management, and hospitality industries that capitalizes on our wild and working landscapes and natural and cultural resources in Wyoming. The state and its flagship land grant university could become the epicenter of the industries in one of the world's great destinations for outdoor recreation, nature-based and cultural tourism, and iconic western hospitality.

As a land grant institution, UW has an obligation to support these vital industries. Scoping for the ORTM degree program made it clear that Wyoming business owners and government officials (including Governors Mead and Gordon) needed UW to create more than just a bachelor's degree. They sought support to expand the OR&T economy. Therefore, we designed ORTM to comprise a bachelor's degree, service to industries, and applied research. We aim to provide a trained workforce, direct service, and vital research to the industries. We intend these components to work in concert to directly improve the OR&T economy. Therefore, our vision is to 1) expand and diversify Wyoming's economy, 2) attract and retain enterprising graduates in the state, and 3) support the OR&T industries.

THE ORTM DEGREE

ORTM is a place-based, interdisciplinary program inspired by the natural environment and recreational opportunities in Wyoming. The focus is to train students for careers primarily in the private sector, and secondarily in public service. The program includes in-depth study of business fundamentals, recreation and tourism, environment and natural resources, and people and culture. Students must complete one of four concentrations: business and hospitality; outdoor recreation leadership; management of recreation resources; or cultural and international tourism. Importantly, the program provides students with real-world experience via practical instruction, internships (Appendix 2), capstone projects, and a professional semester where they complete a team-based project for an OR&T organization or business (Appendix 3). These real-world experiences emphasize “doing” over simply “knowing.” As part of our scoping, we analyzed 22 programs at 18 universities and found our program design to be innovative and distinct.

To further service the industry and create a trained workforce, the College of Business (CoB) added a Hospitality Management minor and a new faculty member in 2020. This was a critical addition to OR&T career training as UW lacked expertise and course offerings in this area.

See Appendix 4 for details of our practical and experiential hospitality curriculum.

ACCREDITATION

We are preparing for Council on Accreditation of Parks, Recreation, Tourism, and Related Professions (COAPRT) accreditation review in 2021-22. COAPRT accreditation and external evaluators' objectives include increasing quality, innovation, and targets for investment.

PARTNERS, COLLABORATORS, & FACULTY

The Haub School offers the ORTM degree in a formal partnership with the CoB (see Appendix 5). CoB faculty teach business fundamentals and hospitality courses in collaboration with Haub School faculty. CoB has established a Hospitality Management minor and created new hospitality courses which serve ORTM students. The Business and Hospitality concentration requires several CoB courses. The Haub School/CoB partnership has been positive and is critical to success of the program.

We are developing articulation agreements, transfer planning guides, and course alignments with Casper College, Central Wyoming College, Colorado Mountain College, and Northwest College. These collaborations will expand our reach statewide, create a recruitment pipeline to UW, and facilitate placement of graduates in the industry.

Our 10-member ORTM advisory committee is composed of OR&T industry professionals from businesses, non-profits, government, and the CoB (Appendix 6). The committee has contributed to scoping, curriculum design, and fundraising, and continues to advise the program.

Haub School ORTM faculty include Dr. Abigail Sisneros-Kidd, Assistant Professor; Dr. Dan McCoy, Degree Coordinator and Associate Lecturer; and Dr. Sara Ghezzi, Professor of Practice. Dr. Ghezzi has a 65% appointment in the Haub School and 35% in CoB. In addition, numerous required and elective courses are taught by CoB and other faculty across campus. We recruit adjunct instructors from OR&T industries to teach courses that enrich student experiences and provide industry engagement and networks.

STUDENT RESPONSE

In 2020 an ORTM degree marketing campaign received over 1.2 million impressions, 6,259 web clicks, 917 inquiries (98% out-of-state), 80 prospective student contacts, 49 applicants with 49 admits (59% out-of-state), and 28 enrollments (46% out-of-state). Further, many undeclared UW students join ORTM once they learn about it.

Enrollment

Enrollment has risen steadily since first offering the degree in fall 2018. We graduated our first cohort of 8 students in spring 2020. Student credit hours have also increased. (Figure 1, spring 2021 estimates based on registration.) Course fill rates have been consistently high with large waiting lists prompting instructors to permit registration above published limits (Appendix 7).

Market Demand

Based on Gray Associates database queries, we determined high market demand for the ORTM degree by both students and employers (Table 1). We queried the database for CIP codes Natural Resource Recreation and Tourism (03-0207) and Parks, Recreation and Leisure Studies (31-0101) using Laramie 360 and National as geographic filters (Appendix 8). CIP code 03-0207 was created in 2019 and has minimal input data (only wage and completion data). Though it aligns best with our ORTM degree, we used CIP code 31-0101 as the closest indicator as we await more data for 03.0207 in the future. Hanover Research lists Natural Resource Recreation and Tourism (03.0207) as a “high growth” labor demand in the US.

ALIGNMENT WITH UW STRATEGIC VISION

The goals and expectations of the ORTM program are well aligned with UW’s Breaking Through Strategic Plan and President Seidel’s strategic vision. As stated in the Breaking Through vision, “we aim to apply innovation, intelligence and tenacity to meet the economic, social and environmental challenges of today.”

Specifically, ORTM aligns with UW Strategic Goal #2, Inspiring Students, in that we “Provide high-impact learning experiences in research, creative activities, internationalization, internships, entrepreneurship, leadership and community service,” and Goal #3, Impacting Communities, in that we “Improve and enhance the health and well-being of our communities and environments through outreach programs and in collaboration with our constituents and partners.”

Our program supports the President's vision of a 21st century land-grant university. The ORTM program and Hospitality Management minor align with all four of President Seidel's vision pillars: interdisciplinary education and research; entrepreneurship, economic, and workforce development; accessible affordable education; and data and computational sciences.

ACHIEVEMENTS

EDUCATION

The first two and a half years of the ORTM degree have been very successful, with growing enrollments and high market demand. The degree prepares students for private sector careers via an interdisciplinary structure and emphasis on real-world experience, and the OR&T industries have overwhelmingly supported its design and implementation. Through the degree, we have built strong partnerships with the CoB, community colleges, and OR&T industries. Three outstanding faculty lead the program. Student course evaluations and exit interviews have been very positive. All this indicates progress toward our goal of improving the OR&T workforce.

SERVICE & OUTREACH

A key goal of the ORTM program is to provide direct service and outreach to Wyoming's OR&T industries. So far, we are providing moderate industry service with aims to make more progress. Our three ORTM faculty have the expertise and interest to provide such service, but currently lack the time and capacity to do so given their responsibilities within this relatively new program. Direct industry service so far includes student capstone projects for OR&T organizations, online summer course offerings for industry professionals, and a forthcoming online guide training certificate. We look forward to further supporting the industries to better advance our land grant mission, UW strategic plan, and President Seidel's vision and we seek resources to grow our capacity and make this a reality.

APPLIED RESEARCH

Applied research integrates with direct service to industry. Our faculty are establishing research programs in collaboration with colleagues in agencies, non-profits, and businesses. Capacity, however, is very limited. Dr. Sisneros-Kidd is the only ORTM faculty member with a research expectation. In addition, Dr. Sara Ghezzi has previous research projects concerning food safety and sustainable brewing practices that will help expand applied research and service.

Establishing a research program requires significant time and commitment. At this early juncture, we have yet to see significant impact from our OR&T research efforts. To accelerate and expand our impact, we must increase our applied research capacity. A proposed graduate program in the Haub School will help accelerate these efforts should the program be approved. In addition, we aspire to develop research partnerships with on-and-off campus organizations and entities.

OUR FUTURE VISION

INTERDISCIPLINARY CENTER

We propose, with cross-campus partners, to establish an interdisciplinary Center for Wyoming Outdoor Recreation, Tourism, and Hospitality (WORTH) to significantly increase our impact and achieve the ORTM program goals. The WORTH Center would employ an extension style model with education, outreach, and applied research components. It would make UW the “go to” source for outdoor recreation, tourism, and hospitality information and service. Imagine a rancher looking for options to diversify revenue, a professional looking for need-specific training, a resort manager seeking to hire talented locally trained employees, or an agency in need of outdoor recreation or tourism-based research. Implementing diverse platforms and programs in education, outreach, and applied research as a highly integrated triumvirate will facilitate maximal growth of the industries within the state’s economy far beyond what we are currently able to deliver.

This center would offer new distance learning options which may include an online major, tourism certificate, trainings for working professionals, short courses, and webinars. The WORTH Center would also provide services such as market analyses, business planning, technology development, investment planning, entrepreneurship training, contract consulting, and business incubation. ORTM faculty would work through the center to engage with industry on relevant, applied research programs.

REQUEST FOR ENHANCED INVESTMENT

Our ORTM program has established proof of concept relative to the university’s investment in faculty and other resources. To fully realize the vision for this program and offer the greatest benefit to Wyoming, we will need to grow our faculty and expand our capacity and offerings. Our proposal to establish the WORTH Center will require financial investment to meaningfully increase our impact on the OR&T economy. The commitment could be scaled through time, beginning with investment in modular courses/webinars for continuing education, on-line degrees/certificates, expanded teaching capacity in ORTM and Hospitality Management, scaling up to extension personnel and research service through joint positions, grant funded initiatives and donor funded programs.

Any UW financial commitment would be enhanced with increased tuition income, fees for service, research grants, and private donor funds. We acknowledge that financial commitments by UW are currently challenging; however, we propose a commitment by UW to establish the WORTH Center and thereby enhance our capacity to meet a mission critical need for service to the state of Wyoming. We request the opportunity to submit a more detailed proposal for a phased plan, program outline, proforma budget, fundraising plan, partnership roles, and personnel requests.

APPENDICES

APPENDIX 1: ECONOMIC VALUE OF OUTDOOR RECREATION & TOURISM

Outdoor Recreation

- New U.S. data show that the outdoor recreation economy accounted for 2.1 percent ($459.8 billion) of current-dollar gross domestic product (GDP) for the nation in 2019. (Bureau of Economic Analysis, November 2020)
- Wyoming is tied with Maine for the fourth highest outdoor recreation GDP in the country at 4.2 percent, behind Hawaii (5.8%), Vermont (5.2%), and Florida (4.4%) (Bureau of Economic Analysis, November 2020).
- Wyoming outdoor recreation employs 21,344, the second highest percentage of total employment of any state in the US.

Tourism

2019 WY Travel Generated Impacts (Source: Dean Runyan Associates, WY Travel Impact Report, March 2019)

- Domestic and international visitors in Wyoming spent $3.95 billion.
- Wyoming welcomed 9.2 million overnight visitors.
- Visitor spending directly affected Wyoming's economy by generating $203 million in local and state tax revenues.
- The state's tourism industry supported 32,570 full and part-time jobs.
- Each Wyoming household would pay $870 more in taxes without the tax revenue generated by the travel and tourism industry.

APPENDIX 5: ORTM MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING

HAUB SCHOOL OF ENVIRONMENT AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Memorandum of Understanding Between Haub School of Environment and Natural Resources & College of Business

We, the undersigned, acknowledge the University of Wyoming (UW) Bachelors of Science in Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management degree requires a committed partnership between the University's Haub School of Environment and Natural Resources and the College of Business. This interdisciplinary degree will provide students the skills, knowledge, and experience in related outdoor recreation and tourism industries that translates to becoming successful leaders that contribute to Wyoming's critically important tourism economy.

Vision for the degree

The vision for the degree is to 1) expand and diversify Wyoming's economy; 2) recruit highly qualified students to UW; 3) deliver a highly experiential, interdisciplinary curriculum; 4) retain enterprising graduates that contribute to a diversified and well-trained workforce; and 5) provide a sustainable mechanism for supporting state-wide recreation, tourism and other related industry stakeholders.

The missions of Haub School and College of Business

The Haub School of Environment and Natural Resources at the University of Wyoming advances the understanding and resolution of complex environmental and natural resources challenges. We support students, stakeholders, and decision makers by giving them skills and tools to build durable, inclusive solutions to our most pressing environmental and natural resource issues.

The College of Business prepares students for careers by providing quality education in business disciplines, creating and disseminating knowledge, and assisting in Wyoming's economic development.

Justification for degree

Wyoming recreation and tourism are economic pillars for the state, constituting the second largest industry behind energy. 73% of Wyoming residents participate in outdoor recreation annually, and the industry generates 50,000 direct jobs in Wyoming alone, ranking it as the largest employment sector in the state<sup>1</sup>. In 2016, outdoor recreation generated $5.6 billion in consumer spending, and $514 million in state and local tax revenue. In 2017 alone, visitors funneled $3.6 billion into Wyoming, and tourism generated $186 million in state and local tax revenues<sup>2</sup>. Wyoming's tourism industry is steadily growing and is typically stable and is a vital part of Wyoming's economic diversity.

The current condition of Wyoming's economy inspired a renewed interest to enhance and diversify the state's economy. Multiple sectors of state government, (e.g. the Governor, Wyoming Office of Tourism, State Parks and Cultural Resources, and the Governor's Task Force on Outdoor Recreation); and the private sector (e.g. the Wyoming Restaurant and Lodging Association, Wyoming Travel Industry Coalition, and numerous private businesses) all recognized the importance of outdoor recreation and tourism to Wyoming. These entities strongly supported and contributed to the creation of the Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management degree.

Therefore, Haub School and College of Business are committed to supporting this important economic sector and will work together diligently to produce graduates who will become leaders in this industry.

Partnership commitments

In order to equip students to be successful in the fields of tourism and outdoor recreation, the degree will give students a strong foundation in business fundamentals, outdoor recreation, tourism, people and culture, and environment and natural resources.

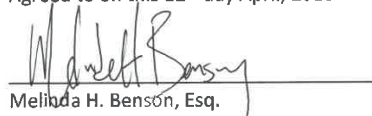

Therefore, Haub School and College of Business resolve to collaborate and share those resources required to deliver and support the Outdoor Recreation and Tourism Management degree. Collaborative resources may include, and not be limited to, course offerings, dedicated and joint faculty appointments, fundraising, recruiting and other activities deemed essential to successful and scalable degree delivery. Formalization of said collaboration between the Haub School and College of Business will be articulated in the Operating Agreement.

Haub School is committed to partner with the College of Business to deliver the degree. In addition, Haub School is committed to house and administer the degree, advise and recruit students, provide faculty, offer courses and seek funding to support the degree.

Operating Agreement

The Parties to this partnership shall collaboratively develop an Operating Agreement, which provides the details to successful execution of the MOU. The Operating Agreement shall be reviewed annually in the month of February to assure it is current, and otherwise remain in effect.

Agreed to on this 12th day April, 2018
